

U. S. PATIENCE NOW AT AN END; BREAK IS NEXT

Final Note May Sever Diplomatic Relations With Germany.

CABINET REVIEWS MATTER CAREFULLY

Say Matters Have Reached Point Where Action Is Unavoidable.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Wilson and the cabinet went over the submarine crisis again today and reaffirmed their determination to bring the situation with Germany to an issue.

The decision to inform Germany that recent accusations of evidence of ships destroyed in submarine warfare leads to the inevitable conclusion that her promises to the United States are not being fulfilled, remained unchanged. The time of dispatching a communication to Berlin appeared to be the only point undecided.

In Congress today a report was widely circulated that the forthcoming note would in itself give notice of a severance of diplomatic relations. There was nothing in official quarters to substantiate the story. Cabinet officers did not deny it, upon the ground that they all had been brought in honor by the president, not to speak upon the subject in any way.

Case Up to Date
There were repeated indications tonight that the note would be a statement of the American case up to date, without anything in the nature of an ultimatum, and still would leave ways open for Germany to avoid the long feared break in diplomatic relations. It was plain, however, that it would be intended as the American government's last word.

Senators of the foreign relations committee, who have been told by the president that they would be consulted before any final or drastic steps were taken, declared tonight they had not yet been advised of the details of the next step. Chairman Stone conferred with Secretary Lansing during the day but declared there was nothing new in the situation.

Additional Evidence
At the state department there was renewed evidence that the United States considers its case complete even without the affidavits which arrived today on the steamer St. Paul. Secretary Lansing acknowledged that evidence gathered by the French government from a captured German submarine crew to prove the identity of the submarine involved in the Sussex attack had been placed in possession of the American government. Such evidence, properly substantiated, was regarded as the capstone of the American case, if one seemed necessary. Mr. Lansing's only comment on the evidence was that it would be examined which officials permitted to prevail was that the note to Germany would not go forward until all evidence had been carefully considered, but that enough was at hand to make up the American case. Some officials said the communication would go within forty-eight hours. Others who have to do with its preparation were less definite.

Situation Grave
In all official quarters here there is evidence of the gravity of the situation. All officials agree that the situation between the two countries to the point of a break or a decided change on Germany's part. As the president and the cabinet are determined that the present conditions cannot continue, the crisis which has prevailed between the two nations for nearly a year has reached a point where nothing but action remains for one or the other.

As it is understood the new communication to Germany mentions nothing in the way of time, it is believed the president has not decided to narrow the case down to a matter of days, but the position of the United States will be none the less unalterable on that account.

What Are Possibilities
Only a disclosure of the exact terms of the documents can show what are the possibilities for the next development.

ALLEGED DEFAULTER GETS CONTINUANCE

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 14.—E. Mayo Dickenson, arrested in connection with the closing of the American National bank of this city, of which he was assistant cashier, was granted a continuance until June 14, when he was arraigned before a United States commissioner here today on a charge of embezzlement. The federal grand jury meets June 13.

Dickenson spent a week in jail before his bond was reduced from $40,000 to $10,000, upon which amount he was liberated.

P. A. Ball, cashier of the institution, and A. S. Dowd, an assistant cashier, waived examination and also were held to the grand jury on similar charges.

Mr. Ewing died Thursday morning following an attack of apoplexy. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Jones, 737 17th Denver.

TO DEMAND EXHUMATION OF MRS. PAGE'S BODY

MRS. ALICE LE CLAIR PAGE

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—Despite the willingness of Thomas Dewey, father of Mrs. Alice Le Clair Page, who mysteriously died by a revolver shot a week ago, to drop the investigation into his daughter's sudden death, an exhumation of the body is to be demanded and the coroner's verdict of suicide either confirmed or refuted.

Mrs. Page was the secret wife of Charles M. Page, wealthy society man of this city. Her marriage to Page was not disclosed until after her death. It has been confirmed that Page, a short while after the shooting, rushed to the home of his first wife, Mrs. Mary A. Page, and held a lengthy conference with her and their 13-year-old daughter.

Coroner Hastings admitted he had conferred with District Attorney Alexander and that the death of Mrs. Page had been discussed. He further declared he had been "too hasty" in his actions at the time he arrived at the Page apartment, and that he would "act differently" if he had it to do over again.

Mrs. C. B. Page, 87-year-old mother of Page, said that her son's tears that she would disinherit him if the "secret marriage" was disclosed, were unfounded.

PROCLIVITY TO WED UNDOING OF MINER

Charged With Bigamy While White Slave Complaint Threatens.

SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.
SAPULPA, Okla., April 14.—A warrant for the arrest of Clarence King, a miner of Joplin, Mo., was issued from the office of County Attorney Roy Wildman here today. King is charged with bigamy but it was intimated by local authorities that white slave charges might develop against King as a result of the filing of additional information.

King, according to evidence now in the possession of County Attorney Wildman, married Miss Minnie Verona Clay, when he had a wife and three children living in Texas. King is said to have deserted his first wife after having robbed her of a large sum of money through fake investments.

After leaving Texas, King came to Oklahoma. He secured employment in Tulsa and while there met Miss Clay at a bank where she was employed as a draft clerk.

Secures Divorce
On June 5 of last year, King was granted a divorce in Oklahoma City. On the fifteenth of June, ten days later, he and Miss Clay were married, the ceremony being performed at Neosho, Mo. After the marriage, King and his wife went to Drumright where he had employment. A short time ago, Mrs. King, about to become a mother, went to the home of her parents in Joplin. She was accompanied by her husband.

Letters from King's first wife seeking information as to the whereabouts of her husband furnished the first lead which enabled the officers to unearth additional information relative to King's subsequent marriage in Tulsa. It is said that Mrs. King No. 1 will prosecute her husband on charges of abandonment and larceny, in case he is apprehended.

Plenty of Charges
The investigation, County Attorney Wildman told a correspondent for The World today, has disclosed the fact that King did not wait six months after securing a divorce to remarry, as is required by the laws of this state. He also said that King's taking Miss Clay across the state line into Missouri might also prove the basis for white slave charges against him.

Funston Studying Messages
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 14.—General Funston and his chief of staff, Major Barnum, were studying decoded messages from Mexico until after midnight when they announced none was from General Pershing and none contained additional information concerning the incident at Parral. They were characterized as routine.

Call 18-Year-Olds
LONDON, April 15.—(3:12 a. m.)—Great Britain will shortly call to the colors her 18-year-old youths, according to reports in the lobby of the house of commons.

Exporters Coin Money
WASHINGTON, April 14.—United States exporters are shipping to South America twice the amount of goods moving southward a year ago and each month's figures are sending the record higher. Tables prepared today in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce show exports valued at $97,000,000 for the last seven months, double those of the corresponding months a year ago.

"FRIENDLY" CARRANZISTAS WATCH AMERICAN ARMY AVIATORS

This group of Carranzistas soldiers is watching an American aviator with the punitive expedition in Mexico, circling high above the American base at Casas Grandes. The Carranzistas informed the Americans that they were friendly to the United States troops. In the picture one of the Mexicans is pointing his rifle at the American flier—in fun—perhaps.

LOW STUDENT PRICE FOR MUSICAL EVENT

Expect Many School Children to Hear Minneapolis Orchestra.

In order that every school child of Tulsa may have a chance to hear the famous Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which is to be presented by the Hyecika club at Convention hall April 29, tickets will be sold to students at 25 cents each for the matinee.

Teachers are included in the offer. It is probable that the maximum amount of seats allowed will be utilized by teachers and children. The tickets will be handled through the city schools.

So important is the orchestra considered that Miss Harriet Yarnatta, supervisor of music, will spend the greater part of the next three weeks giving a course of instruction as to orchestra work in general to every pupil in the schools. This will apply to all teachers, describing every instrument known to the modern orchestra. In addition to the shape and general characteristics of the instrument itself, the tones will be described as intelligently as possible.

Every school in the city, with the exception of one, has a phonograph and there will be pressed into use as illustrations of the sounds of the instruments. Special records are made for the purpose.

A chart also will be provided, showing the seating arrangement of the symphony orchestra. This will apply to the Minneapolis Symphony, since every orchestra is seated according to the same plan.

GERMANS NOW USE STEEL NETS

Block International Passage South of Sound by Unique Device.

COPENHAGEN, April 14.—(via London 7:44 p. m.)—The Norwegian Shipping Gazette says that the German navy has stopped the international passage south of the sound (the strait between Denmark and Sweden) not merely by the usual mine obstructions, but also by steel nets designed to trap British submarines seeking to enter the Baltic.

Danish torpedo boats, says the Shipping Gazette, are watching the operations to make sure that obstructions are not placed in Danish territorial waters.

BRADBURY'S FATE WITH JURY

Is Being Tried for Murder of P. J. Jenkins, His Employer

PINE BLUFF, Ark., April 14.—The fate of T. S. Bradbury, charged with killing his employer, P. J. Jenkins, because of his love for Mrs. Jenkins, now is in the hands of the jury.

The case was given to the jury shortly before 9 o'clock tonight. Judge Sorrells remained at the courthouse until 11 o'clock and then sent word to the jurors that he would return at any hour of the night to receive a verdict. No word has yet come, however.

Arguments of attorneys, which began last night, occupied all today. If Bradbury should be acquitted, Prosecutor Parham said that Mrs. Jenkins will not be prosecuted. She was indicted as an accessory to the killing.

ANDY GOT THE BEST OF IT

Took Shrewd Bargaining, but He Saved Value of a Few Matches.

Mrs. Malinda Sawyer bore the reputation of being about the "nearest" woman in Disharoon township. She loved nothing more than to drive a sharp trade at the Disharoon general store, where butter and eggs were accepted in exchange for merchandise. It was by no means easy to get the better of Andy Gordy, the storekeeper, however. He took a keen delight in matching his wits against Mrs. Sawyer's, but it was more for the satisfaction of coming out victor than from any extravagant love of gain.

"I tell you, one day, that Andy purchased of Mrs. Sawyer ten dozen eggs at 20 cents a dozen, in exchange for which he was to give twenty yards of calico at 10 cents a yard. On measuring off the goods he found that there were twenty and one-half yards in the piece.

"You might throw the odd half yard in for good measure," suggested Malinda.

"You demurred. 'It's worth a whole nickel,' said he. 'Got any eggs left in the basket?'

"Four," reported Malinda. "At 29 cents a dozen that's a nickel, so here they are."

"Then you got just one left to carry home," returned Andy. "Might as well throw that in for good measure."

"No, sir," retorted Mrs. Sawyer, making a mental calculation. "If three eggs are worth five cents, one egg'd be worth a third of five—um—um—one and two-thirds cents—two cents. Can't do it. Andy, let's see, what's nutmeg worth?"

"Twelve cents a dozen. I'll give you a nice nutmeg for that odd egg."

"Twelve cents a dozen, must Malinda. Your eggs are 29. One wouldn't pay for an egg. Gimme two nutmegs, Andy."

Andy shook his head. "Two nutmegs would be two cents, and one egg is only two and two-thirds cents."

Mrs. Sawyer stopped to consider the matter. As she did so, she drew her pipe from her pocket and filled it with "fine cut," and then she looked in vain for a match.

"Went and forgot to fetch any," grumbled she. "Well, look a-here, Andy, it'd be right smart of a bother to lug one lone egg home, and I got to light my pipe. Gimme a nutmeg and a half a dozen matches, and take the egg. You're always bound to have the best of a bargain, one way or another; how you got it?"

"O, I don't know! You got a pretty fair bargain yourself," Andy said, consolingly, as he tucked away the odd egg with a grin. "That's a terrible good nutmeg I just gave you."

Against Union Rules

The soldier was telling the workman about a battle that he had once been in that had lasted from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night. His description was most graphic, and he became very enthusiastic. "There's one thing I can't understand about the story," said the workman, slowly, when he had finished. "You say that the battle began at 6 o'clock in the morning and lasted until 7 o'clock at night?"

"Yes, that's so," was the reply.

"Well," retorted the workman, "the unions wouldn't stand for such hours nowadays."—From the Argonaut.

FRANK BYERLY TO GIVE TRAVELOGUE

Estes Park Club of Y. W. C. A. Will Bring Lecturer to Tulsa.

Frank Byerly, Sr., was struck by a live automobile and seriously injured last night at about 5 o'clock just after he had arrived back in the city and was on his way home from the city depot. The machine was driven by C. P. Smith, who declared his car had been struck by another driven by Ernest Lyon and that he could not avoid the accident. Both drivers were arrested and released on bond for their appearance, and Schreck was taken to his home at 421 West Sixth street.

Schreck suffered cuts about the face and head and sustained a number of bruises. Only at times was he conscious last night and in telling of the accident said that the drivers of the two machines were driving at a high rate of speed and appeared to be racing. Mr. Schreck had just left the depot and was crossing Cameron street, near the corner, when he was struck. Those who saw the accident say he had a narrow escape from being struck by both cars.

A large crowd gathered at the scene of the accident and both drivers were taken into custody. They posted bonds of $50 each for their appearance in court this morning.

FRANK SCHRECK, SR., SERIOUSLY INJURED

Two Auto Drivers, Said to Be Racing, Held After Accident.

At a meeting of the Estes Park club of the Y. W. C. A. in the "Y. W." cottage last night, it was decided to bring Frank W. Byerly, famous travelogue artist, to the city Thursday night, April 20. The entertainment will be given in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and will serve both to excite interest in the Estes park conference of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. and as a benefit for the local club.

Mr. Byerly's subject is upon the region of Estes park, which has recently been reserved by the government as the Rocky Mountain National park. Two hundred natural color slides taken by the new French auto-touring bus Thompson, which has reproduced all color photographs, will be shown during the lecture.

In this travelogue, Mr. Byerly will conduct his hearers through one of the most beautiful sections of the Rockies. Beginning with a glimpse of the Denver City park, the tour is continued along the St. Vrain river, then through the famous Loveland canyon, and on to the quaint little village of Estes Park. Thence along the rushing Big Thompson river, many waterfalls, lakes and glaciers found in the huge gorges which indent the Continental Divide, finally to arrive upon the lofty summits of Long's and Hall's peaks.

Lorimer on Stand

CHICAGO, April 14.—William Lorimer was on the witness stand again today in his own defense to answer charges of conspiracy in connection with the closing of the Sullis Street Trust & Savings bank.

The defendant witness contradicted the testimony given by James B. Forgan, chairman of the First National bank, and also that of Owen T. Reeves, president of the Producers National bank. He denied that Forgan, who earlier in the trial had testified that he had advised Lorimer to liquidate the bank, had ever broached the subject of liquidation.

With a deputy sheriff, they visited two buildings where they suspected liquor was sold, seized a large quantity of beer and whisky and ordered the sheriff to destroy it. The orders were executed. No arrests were made.
